

5. After a former employee at the Clinic complained to the Board that other employees at the Clinic were self-medicating with prescription drugs from the Clinic's drug inventory, Respondent examined her inventory of medications and found that it included a container of 800 mg ibuprofen tablets and a container of 500 mg erythromycin tablets that she had not authorized to be ordered. Respondent was not aware that these drugs were in the Clinic's inventory, and was not using them to treat animals.

6. Invoices for prescription drug orders show that over the past five years, the Clinic had ordered six bottles of 800 mg ibuprofen tablets and two bottles of 500 mg erythromycin tablets. Respondent was unaware of these orders, and the prescription drugs had not been used to treat animals at the Clinic.

7. Rule of Professional Conduct 573.11 states that a veterinarian is responsible for any acts that a non-veterinarian commits within the scope of their employment.
