Jeanne Chucle, D.V.M.

opinion, for the $100.00 that had been prepaid she would be able to treat the ulcer and get the cat cleaned up. According to Ms. Cole, Dr. Chucle then called Ms. Cole and told her that she had examined the cat, given it a Depo Medrol injection, and performed other services for the $100 paid by Ms. Cole. This is disputed by Dr. Chucle, who called Ms. Cole and informed her of the results of the exam and that the cat could be treated without any further expense, which made Ms. Cole very happy. Later that day, Ms. Cole went to the WAH and was allowed to visit the cat. According to Ms. Cole, no one talked to her to explain the services performed by Dr. Chucle. According to Dr. Chucle, however, the services had already been explained by Dr. Chucle, and Ms. Cole left the visit satisfied. In any event, Ms. Cole left the WAH and was finally able to arrange for a rescue group to pick up the cat and try to locate a home for him. According to Dr. Chucle, WAH had previously offered to help Ms. Cole find the cat a home, but Ms. Cole could not decide what she wanted to do with the cat.

3. On August 24th, Ms. Cole called the WAH and asked for a copy of the euthanasia release form and was refused. Dr. Chucle later reported that the release had been lost or had never been made a part of the actual file and disposed of.
